Aegean Platinum Beige Marble has been the most popular introduction to UK market in 2007. It is a natural product of south east Mediterranean region, quarried in Taurus mountains. It has a natural light beige silver colour. The Antique finish fits to any period building with special features to protect. The tiles are actually brushed to give a smooth and non slippery surface and its edges are chipped (also called chiselled, distressed edge) to give a very elegant antique finish to the tiles. It is suitable for any interior or exterior project. Platinum Antique Marble Tiles have been used for period building and listed building renovation projects from 12th Century churches and castles to Edwardian, Victorian and Georgian Houses. We can supply bespoke work tops, or kitchen tops or steps matching with the floor and wall tiles. Please give us a call to discuss your stone tile flooring and walling projects. We can suggest the best stone tiles to fit to your bathroom, kitchen, hall, living room, conservatory, garden or patio for modern building decorations or period building renovations. We can arrange delivery of your orders from our warehouse in Rainham Essex (next to London) to anywhere in England, Wales and Scotland as well.
