

Travertine-Chiaro-Honed-and-Filled

Chiaro travertine is a classic pale beige travertine colour. The light base colour of the stone has slightly darker shading in some areas. Swirls and blending of the natural characteristics of the stone are evident in every tile. Chiaro travertine a style we have supplied for many years now. After this travertine is quarried the tiles are manufactured by cutting across the layers of sediment. This means each tile contains a nice amount of variation of the colours already mentioned. The travertine is honed and filled to give a smooth matt finish on the surface of the tiles. Due to the quality of the stone only a small amount of filling is necessary. The edges are diamond sawn and square cut. Chiaro travertine is an extremely versatile product which continues to be one our most popular stone tiles in the wholesale market. As a new year present to UK market, we started offering the same price levels for public in this product range for a limited period. Although there are lower price quotes in the market this offer of £18 per meter for a high quality Travertine Tile is unique.
